

Tullia Zevi: Gottfried Wagner, Goethe Institut Rome Autobiography Italian editione, Il Saggiatore, 1988, translated by Teresina Rossetti

The Twilight of the Wagners
Anti-Semitism and Nazism
Public and private history
In the memories of the last of the Wagners in Bayreuth

Tullia Zevi (introduction to the presentation , excerpt):

“... We must go to Reconciliation and we will go, in this sense it is worth more than anything
The NO, the protest of Gottfried H. Wagner, with which it can be opened
The road to authentic dialogue.
Gottfried H. Wagner is an example of how the men of the NO, that is, who refuse to accept perverse orders, they are the ones who save the lost honor of their country ... ”

Tullia Zevi (née Calabi) (2 February 1919 – 22 January 2011) was an Italian journalist and writer. Zevi's family fled Italy to France and then to the US after the rise of fascism in the 1930s. While in New York City, she married Bruno Zevi. She returned to Europe in 1946, and was one of the few women journalists to report the Nuremberg Trials (Eichmann trial report for Italy) . On her return to Italy, she played a major role in Interfaith dialog, and was active in Italian Centre-left politics. Zevi was president of the Union of Italian Jewish Communities from 1983 to 1998.

Tullia Zevi